

The following message states the case well and will be my second complaint about this network and its affiliate WLOS in Asheville, NC.

My earlier comments also took issue with Sinclair's "News Central" inserts which, in addition to the problems listed below, tend to include right wing propaganda disguised as news items. The public airways should be used to serve all the public and not a particular political constituency.

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation.

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. But when large companies control the airwaves, we get more of what's good for the bottom line and less of what we need for our democracy. Instead of something produced at "News Central" far away, it's more important that we see real people from our own communities and more substantive news about issues that matter.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank you.
